Associate Spotlight:

Dr. Casey Goldston Giraudy

Dr. Casey Goldston Giraudy is from Durham, North Carolina. She’s been an associate with Preston for over five years. But she came to USC “many MANY moons ago.” Dr. Casey received her undergraduate degree at UNC Chapel Hill, but her masters, doctorate, and grad certification in ESL/LING all come from USC.

Dr. Casey is also currently taking Spanish 121. “I took French in high school but since I don’t remember any of it I thought that Spanish might be fun. Wish me luck!”

Her educational training is in Higher Education Administration and Student Services. There are two parts to Dr. Casey’s job here. The first is to teach a 300 level First Aid and CPR course, which is through her department of Health Promotion, Education and Behavior (Arnold School of Public Health). The second is to monitor graduate student retention and satisfaction issues for the department. Dr. Casey also works with international students regarding admissions, immigration and other concerns.

Dr. Casey has a lot of work on her hands, but she took a much deserved break to visit Washington D.C. for the second inauguration of President Obama.

Justice Kaye G. Hearn, a native Pennsylvanian, received her undergraduate degree from Bethany College, graduating cum laude. She earned her law degree from the University of South Carolina School of Law, also graduating cum laude.

Justice Hearn is a past member of the South Carolina Board of Bar Examiners, the CLE Commission, the Nelson, Mullins, Riley & Scarborough Professionalism Committee, the Chief Justice’s Commission on the Profession, and the Alternative Dispute Resolution Commission. Currently, she is a member of the University of South Carolina Law School’s Partnership Board and the Charleston School of Law Board of Advisors. Since 2006, she has been a Distinguished Visiting Professor at the Charleston School of Law, teaching a class on appellate advocacy.

Please welcome Kaye Hearn this evening at 7 pm as she speaks to her journey into law and leadership.

Project Condom

Project Condom is runway fashion show on March 5th at the Russell House Ballroom.

All garments featured will be made entirely of condoms!

A panel, including special guest judge, Anthony Auld (Season 9 of Project Runway, Project Runway All Stars), will judge the garments and declare a winner. The audience will also have a chance to vote for their favorite designs.

Winners will receive prizes from ONE Condoms!

MULTICULTURAL STUDENT AFFAIRS

Recruiting Volunteers for Tunnel of Awareness!

Date: Sunday, March 24th – Wednesday, March 27th
Location: Patterson 103/104

This March, the Residence Hall Association, University Housing, and the Office of Multicultural Student Affairs are hosting the 3rd Annual Tunnel of Awareness. Tunnel of Awareness is a program that displays different topics of social justice in an interactive museum style. For this event, we need volunteers from all over campus to help strengthen the event. All volunteers for this event are eligible to receive service hours. Please check out the following links to learn more about the event and register as a volunteer.

Call for Entries: University Libraries Student Book Collecting Contest
Submission Deadline: April 1, 2013
Entries are invited from students currently enrolled at the University of South Carolina for the University Libraries Student Book Collecting Award, carrying a first prize of $250. The award is sponsored by the Thomas Cooper Society, which initiated it in 1993 to encourage beginning book collectors. A list of previous winners and the topics of their collections is available at: http://www.sc.edu/library/spcoll/bookcoll/winners.html.

Entries should be submitted by midnight on Monday, April 1, 2013, to: Jeffrey Makala, Irvin Department of Rare Books and Special Collections, Hollings Special Collections Library, Columbia SC 29208, (803) 777-0296 or makalaj@mailbox.sc.edu.

Register now to attend the 3rd annual M.O.S.A.I.C. Symposium, a one-day conference with the goal of promoting diversity in international learning.

Students who attend the M.O.S.A.I.C. Symposium will have the opportunity to be a part of engaging discussions about developing and expanding global competencies both here and abroad. They will learn how international competencies can help prepare you for the workplace and give you an advantage over the competition.

Visit www.studyabroad.sc.edu/mosaic for more information and to register.

If you have any questions, please contact Rachel Hardison at hardison@mailbox.sc.edu
Celebrating the world’s greatest love stories has long been the subject of authors, painters, musicians, dancers, moviemakers, and critics. The Carolina Emerging Scholars Conference is pleased to accept papers on the theme of “Deathless Love,” ranging from the story of Heloise and Abelard to Wuthering Heights and the Twilight series, and dealing with any genre from poetry to the movies. We would be particularly interested in interdisciplinary papers making connections between two or more genres. For instance, literary or historical love affairs immortalized in visual art or music, the historical and literary intersections of Spiritualism, or cross-cultural notions of love beyond death. Abstracts of no more than 250 words are due by March 1, 2013 to cescon@mailbox.sc.edu. Abstracts must include name, title of paper, institution, and contact information.

UnLayered: Girls Talking Back
From 2009 to 2012 the Women’s Well-Being Initiative in Women’s and Gender Studies at USC has offered art and writing workshops to West Columbia middle- and high-school girls. In their video and animation films, t-shirt designs, and poems the girls talk back to the roadblocks in their lives: drug abuse, violence, body image, peer pressure, and family issues. The workshops were facilitated by assistant professor of art education Olga Ivashkevich, with the help of art education faculty member Courtneie Wolfgang, filmmaker Rebecca Boyd, and student volunteers Cortney Piper, Heather Eaddy, Ruzanna Carter, Michelle McDonald, Katherine Chandler, Kathleen Hall, and Olivia Keyes.
